WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1887.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1888.

MAYSVILLE, KY., MONDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1906

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

Twelve women were seriously injured in a crash for bargains at a Louisville 5 and 10c store Saturday.

Mr. James Newell, the black face monologuist, left yesterday in response to a telegram to join the Humpty Dumpty troupe at Cincinnati.

Millard Merz, Assignee of Margaret S. Smith, doing business as W. R. Smith, Agent, reports as follows: Assets, $371,113; less exemptions, $200; net inventory and appraisement, $171,113; liabilities, $1,897,63.

We have it from good authority that Merz Bros. sold more cloaks and suits Saturday than any day in the history of their house. That shows, with an up-to-date line of goods properly advertised, what can be done.

With every dollar's worth of goods bought at P. J. Murphy's, you get a ticket on the elegant "Diamond Ring." Now is your opportunity to buy goods at a low price and get a ticket, which costs you nothing.

P. J. MURPHY, the Jeweler.

Mr. and Mrs. William Chisholm, who have been sojourning at Cynthiana for several months, returned home Friday. Mr. Chisholm was in the kitchen cabinet business, but did not succeed quite as well as the "wise men" who did up this city and county to the Queen's taste.

The funeral of the late William Spremberg took place Saturday from the home in Commerce street under auspices of the Oddfellows, and was largely attended by friends and neighbors. Dr. Barbour's remarks were beautiful and consoling, appropriate alike to the living and the dead.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Davis and little son, Corrine, leave today for their future home at Newport News, Va. They carry with them the best wishes of their relatives and many friends here at their old home, where both were born and raised. What is Maysville's loss will be Newport News' gain.

MRS. B. F. JONES.

Mrs. B. F. Jones died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home, 107 Union street, of hemorrhage, aged 29 years, 11 months and 25 days.

Hers was a peculiarly sad death, having experienced a mother's love for her first born only a few short hours when the slender thread of life snapped and she passed away as one in a peaceful sleep.

Besides a husband and a two days old babe, she leaves one sister and three brothers—Mrs. Minnie Spencer, Springfield, O.; Morton Daniton, Bellevue; Robert Daniton, Covington, and Frank Daniton of Cincinnati.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed and will be announced later.

MRS. CLARENCE BECKETT.

Mrs. Clarence Beckett died at her home in Washington yesterday evening at 6 o'clock after a protracted illness, aged 22 years.

A husband and one child survive her.

The funeral takes place tomorrow at 1 o'clock from the Methodist Church.

Interment in Washington Cemetery.

BUGGY WRECK

A Very Natural Result of Racing With a Streetcar

Saturday evening about 7:30 a buggy containing Andy Ring, Adam Ring and Steve Rees met with a mishap at the corner of East Second and Lexington streets.

Andy Ring, the owner of the horse and rig, was driving, and was racing alongside of the streetcar.

At this point the motorman stopped his car for a passenger to alight; the sudden stoppage of the car frightened the horse, which shied and became unmanageable dashed against a post in front of a telephone pole.

The force of the impact precipitated the occupants to the ground, and one of the number is said to have actually turned a somersault in his mortal flight before reaching terra firma.

The horse, stripped of harness, ran a short distance, and striking a pile of bricks he too took a tumble, after which he sat up on his haunches and calmly surveyed the wreck he had created.

A aside from the damage to the buggy Steve Rees received a sprained wrist and the Ring boys scratches and bruises.

They were lucky in escaping as they did.

Altogether it was an expensive ride.

THEY'RE GOING SOME!

Looks Now Like We'd Have Brick Streets Pretty Soon.

Just before the battle of Five Forks General Sheridan telegraphed to General Grant—

"I think the enemy can be captured if things are pushed."

Grant's laconic answer was—

"Push things!"

Nine days later came Appomattox.

With the nail-like contractors out of the running, the Street Paving Committee made up its mind that both Third street and Second street can be paved within six weeks, and Engineer John H. Sanborn was placed in personal charge of the entire work, with instructions to push things.

Superintendent Hunt went to Cincinnati and got the right sort of hands for the curb and gutter work, and what they are doing in Second street is a plenty.

In Third street the concreters are whooping it up, and in less than two weeks, with anything like fair weather, that thoroughfare will be open to travel.

With Engineer Sanborn in personal charge; with Superintendent Hunt to see that the details are observed, and with the Paving Committee to furnish the sinews of war, there's no reason why the city shouldn't get just as good streets as Henkel & Sullivan, or any other contracting firm, can build—and give us the use of them a few days before Gabriel toots his horn.

Messrs. T. B. Satterwhite and E. A. Alexander arrived here yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock on their motor bicycles, having made the run from Lexington in less than four hours. Between Lexington and Parke they speeded their machines at a rate of over twenty miles an hour. After a night's rest at the Central they left this morning for the return trip to Lexington.

The alarm of fire Saturday night between 10 and 11 o'clock was caused by a slight blaze at Henry Golenstein's blacksmith shop in Wall street. It was put out without the aid of the fire department; two are three buckets full of water extinguished the flames. The damage was very little.

A COMMON COMMENT MADE BY THE TRAVELING PEOPLE WHO VISIT MAYSVILLE: "We see more well dressed men here than in any town double its size in the country." This is made possible by having in this community one of the largest and most up-to-date Men's, Boys' and Children's Outfitting Establishments in the state. STRANGE SHOOTING STORY

Husband Dead and Vanceburg Wife
in Cincinnati Hospital

At Addyston, just below Cincinnati, Thomas Jordan was shot, dying soon after.

When the neighbors came in they found his sixteen-year-old wife calmly washing her hands from three bullet wounds in her own body.

It was at first thought she had killed her husband, but she protested her innocence, and after being taken to the Betts Street Hospital
she told this story to Dr. Broerman, the attending physician—

"I am from Vanceburg, Ky., and my name is Rebecca McCauley. My father is J. T. McCauley of Vanceburg. I have been married about eight months, and we lived for a time at Vanceburg. I quarreled with my husband there and for a time we lived apart. He came to Coal City to work and I followed. Friday morning
I told him I was not going to live with him any longer, and we argued about the matter. I was sitting on the side of the bed, and he said,
'You'd better stay with me, or you'll be sorry.'
The next thing I remember is his coming toward me with a gun he had bought several days ago, and which he had threatened then to use on me. I don't remember much after that. I remember vaguely that I was lying on the bed sort of dazed, and a man we call 'Curly' said
'Don't let him get the gun again.' I remember picking up the gun, which was by the bed, and pitching it toward the door. I remember some one saying that my husband was shot, and that he shot himself. I think a Doctor told me that,
and I remember I was horribly sick, and everybody wanted to ask questions."

The authorities were for a time firm in the belief that Mrs. Jordan had shot her husband and then herself, but later developments have caused a change of opinion.

At last accounts she was in a critical condition.

take root, and it becomes epidemic after some 200 years. It has been shown that mosquitoes are active in transferring leprosy bacilli.

Himself an artist, Mr. Kackley has used the camera to best advantage, and in executing the pictures are perfect. THE LEDGER advises every one to procure a set for the album, and to send to distant friends as a reminder of the lovely old home town.

One of the late books of fiction, a copy of which has been received by THE LEDGER, is "Doc. Gordon," from the pen of Mary E. Wilkins-Freeman. From a typographical viewpoint the book is far above the average, while the colored illustrations are unusually fine. The narration, too, is very pleasant, running somewhat out of the ordinary—a simple love story carried through a series of exciting incidents. The book is to be Merz Bros offering for November and promises to be one of the best sellers on account of its general worth.

The Parkersburg, W. Va., Sentinel says—"The Lifesrama, or moving picture exhibition given at the Camden Theater last evening by Lyman H. Howe is full of the liveliest kind of interest. It is very different from the ordinary moving picture show, inasmuch as the resemblance of the pictures to real life in this instance is greatly enhanced by a variety of novel features of an accessory character. The program is made up of a variety of pictures of domestic and outdoor life in all climes and among many peoples, and the humorists and the serious are admirably balanced therein."

At the Washington Theater tonight. Seats now on sale at Ray's.

The suit of the Commonwealth v. Hillis, etc., from Lewis county, has been affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Dan Stratton, a Negro, claiming to be from Lexington, has been jailed at Greenup, charged with assault upon Miss Ella Swartz at Russell.

At the meeting of the Kentucky Medical Society at Owensboro, Dr. J. E. Wells of Cynthiana was re-elected Chancellor for the Ninth District.

William Bushnell, aged 19, a plumber, fell seven stories down the airshaft at the Hotel Seville, New York, receiving a slight bruise on his heel, walking to Bellevue Hospital to have it treated. "That fall of seven stories was the finest experience that I ever had. I enjoyed it very much," said he to Dr. Lewis. "When I first felt myself going, it frightened me, but then came a feeling of delight. I was drunk with exquisite pleasure. I received a shock when I struck the concrete flooring in the basement, but that was nothing serious."

Announcement of a carefully planned campaign to secure the repeal of the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution that gives the Negro equality with the white man as a citizen was made by Governor Vardaman of Mississippi, who was in Chicago attending the Railway Surgeons' Convention.

At the first session of the world's W. C. T. U. meeting in Boston, a resolution was adopted asking President Roosevelt and Secretary Root to renew the suggestion once made by the President and the late Secretary Hay, that Great Britain and the United States join in presenting the other Nations a treaty forbidding the sale of opium or intoxicating liquors to uncivilized Nations.
